Description	The Ministry of Education's Innovation Cell has launched an exciting initiative, the 'Kalam Program for IP Literacy and Awareness (KAPILA),' and our college is proud to actively participate through our Innovation Cell. KAPILA aims to raise awareness among students, staff, and faculty at higher education institutions and schools about the importance of intellectual property (IP) filing, along with the mechanisms and methodologies involved in filing IP both in India and globally. Our college's involvement in this initiative highlights our commitment to fostering innovation and equipping students for the challenges and opportunities of the future. As part of this initiative, staff and students came together to celebrate World Intellectual Property Day on April 26, 2024, from 11:00am to 12:30 p.m., via YouTube. Expert speakers Dr. P. V. Madhusudhan Rao, Professor in the Department of Mechanical Engineering & Design at IIT Delhi, and Shri Divyanshu Mishra, Assistant Controller of Patents and Designs at the Patent Office in Delhi, shared valuable insights on the significance of Intellectual Property (IP), the various components of IP (including Patents, Copyrights, Trademarks, and Geographical Indications), as well as the administrative and procedural aspects of patents and relevant case studies. Together, we look forward to paving the way for a brighter and more innovative future for generations to come.

Description	On July 7, 2023, Aurora's PG College (MCA) Uppal hosted a seminar titled "Qualitative vs. Quantitative Aspects of Research." This seminar aimed to highlight the importance of qualitative research in understanding complex social processes and the underlying reasons for people's behaviours and attitudes. It is particularly valuable for exploring new or intricate phenomena where limited information is available, helping to generate hypotheses and develop theories. The Head of Department addressed the students and welcomed the guest speaker, Dr. Sabina Rachel Harold, Assistant Professor in Business Management at Mahatma Gandhi University. The seminar brought together students and faculty members to delve into the strategies surrounding qualitative and quantitative research. The objectives included gaining a deep understanding of how individuals and groups perceive and interpret their experiences, investigating complex, multi-dimensional issues that are often subjective, and generating new hypotheses based on context-rich insights. Qualitative research frequently serves as a precursor to quantitative studies. The seminar provided attendees with a rich, detailed understanding of complex phenomena, including motivations, experiences, and perspectives. It also contributed to the development and refinement of theories and conceptual frameworks through in-depth exploration of the subject matter. Participants appreciated the practical advice and real-world examples shared by the speakers. Overall, the seminar on Qualitative vs. Quantitative Aspects of Research successfully achieved its objectives, equipping attendees with valuable insights and practical skills essential for conducting research.
